Veterinary Nurse Conference 2017

Saturday 14 and Sunday 15 October
at UQ Gatton Campus

The conference will be hosted by UQ VETS and held at The University of Queensland Gatton campus. Join us for a full weekend of educational sessions designed to provide practical information for veterinary practice staff and animal carers. The two days will be packed with lectures and wetlabs of many different topics, you will hear from specialist in the field speaking about a range of topics including small animal emergency and critical care, avian and exotics and equine radiology. Many of our speakers have spoken internationally and we have specialists in equine internal medicine and veterinary anaesthesia.

This is a wonderful opportunity for veterinary nurses to further their education in their chosen fields.

The conference will offer three streams: Small Animal, Avian & Exotics and Equine. Attendees will be asked to nominate the stream of choice upon registration, but will be welcome to move around between sessions on the weekend.

Topics to be covered include:

Small animal anaesthesia and analgesia
Avian anaesthesia and analgesia
Equine surgical and medical nursing
Equine radiology

Keynote Speaker

Dr Phil Jauncey

Phil has been described as "one of Queensland's most dynamic presenters... has stimulated sports and professional audiences alike. His contagious passion for life has an overwhelming ability to leave guests wanting more as he tackles the more technical mind sets of self-development and gets back to basics."

UQ VETS would like to thank their major sponsor:
